CAPT. THOMAS DORLING SHORTS

"The High Admiral of Okanagan Lake" was a gruff frontiersman who was known to row passengers (and up to 5000 pounds of cargo) the length of the lake in his 22ft long row boat, rain or shine. During these voyages, this talented spinner of yarns would regale his passengers, and anyone else in earshot, with tales of the high "seas" and derring-do adventures. With less than 300 bottles in existence, Lot 1 of Captain Shorts' Triple-Wood Reserve salutes this historical figure who loved storytelling, and of course, the gorgeous golden-brown elixir that often enables it!
